DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 14, 16-20 provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 16, 18 of copending Application No. 10/616695. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the copending application '695 is a narrow version of the instant applications specifically because '695 teaches adjustment of lightness and contrast, while the instant application teaches adjustment of lightness. The teaching of adjustment of lightness and contrast from the copending application anticipates the teaching of adjustment of lightness within the context of the claims.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented. However, note that the status of '695 is currently that a notice of allowance has been mailed to applicant and the application is received in the office of publications.

3. Claim 21 is provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 16 of copending Application No. 10/616695 in view of the official notice.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.

In an image output apparatus which adjusts the quality of an image by changing the degree of adjustment of lightness, the apparatus involves processing to determine such a degree. Official notice is taken that it would be well known to one of ordinary skill in the art in the above device that the adjustment of lightness degree is determined based on lightness property of the entire image and factors such as a known or predetermined optimal value used as a reference value. Without such information, the correct degree of adjustment of lightness would be difficult to determine. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the claims of the copending application by the fact that it is well known that the degree of adjustment is determined by factors including brightness property of the whole image as well as a predetermined value to compare to produce optimal results.
